ECHOES OF BAR MEETING HELD SATURDAY

Judge Moncure Addresses Meeting After Report is Submitted

REPORT ADOPTED 20-1

Committee of Seven Given Rising Vote of Thanks and is Discharged —Resolutions Presented.

After the special committee of seven that investigated the divorce situation here had submitted its report to the Alexandria Bar Association Saturday afternoon at a meeting held in the corporation court room presided over by James R. Caton, Judge Robinson Moncure addressed the members of the bar. Judge Moncure declared that he would temper his opinions with reasonable mercy as long as he was on the bench. Continuing he said: "I never anticipated being on the bench long, but do not intend to be driven from it. I do think the agitation has resulted in good. I don't propose to ask the governor to designate another judge to come here and summon a grand jury, and I don't propose to have this grand jury of honest citizens turned downn."

The judge also told the bar association that when they come to him with rules if he did not adopt them he would have been criticized. Some of the members of the bar he said are trying to tear down the rules. The judge asserted that he would not stulify himself by turning down the rules, adding that if there was any serious case he would have it heard in open court.

The report of the special committee of seven attorneys who for the past two months investigated the divorce situation here was adopted by a vote of 20 to 1. Chairman H. W. Smith stated he was glad to say the report was unanimous and he then read the report.

Attorney H. Noel Garner expressed his views regarding certain events in connection with the investigation and he added he thought the divorce laws ample and sufficient.

Judge L. C. Barley addressing the association said that the supplemental report filed by himself and C Keith Carlin they desired received and filed.

J. Randall Caton stated that he desired his report adopted. After a debate on the question in which a number of those present participated the motion to adopt the report was defeated by a vote of 14 to 11 and this report simply was received and filed the same as that of Messrs. Barley and Carlin was by a vote of 18 to 6.

On motion of Attorney Garner a rising vote of thanks was tendered the committee of seven that made the investigation for their painstaking efforts

Robert Thomas offered a motion providing that the rules now in operation in the corporation court in divorce cases providing among other things that a guardian ad litem be named by the court in all divorce cases be suspended.

Howard W. Smith stated that to do this would mean that the members of the bar did not desire to eliminate the divorce evil and would throw the bars wide open. The measure to rescind the rules along this line was defeated by a yote of 13 to 12.

All of the reports were ordered turned over to Commonwealth's Attorney Howard W. Smith to be submitted to the grand jury in its investigation.

A resolution of Attorney Garner that the members of the bar association reconsider its previous indorsement of Judge Moncure. This measure was defeated.

A resolution of J. Randall Caton in which the attorney condemned the soliciting of business as unprofessional and unethical and not justified under any circumstanes was adopted. On motion of H. W Smith the association decided to meet with in the next thirty days for the purpose of adopting rules.

46 Germans Killed Each Hour of War

Berlin, March 26.—Forty-six men were killed and 109 wounded on the German side during every hour the world war was raging, according to an estimate arrived at by General von Altrock, a statistician. This estimade was made from a study of official records.

Germany's losses totaled in dead 1,808,545 and in wounded 4,246,779. Men to the number of 13,000,000 were under arms during the course of the war, of whom about one in seven was killed in battle.

The officers' corps lost 53,000 men killed and 96,000 wounded. German soldier and civilian losses through death, caused directly or indirectly by the war, are estimated by General von Altrock at 12,000,000.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

Washington, March 27.—B. N. Timmons, the correspondent of the Chronicle at Houston, Texas, is an ex-service man. In a dispatch to his newspaper regarding the passage of the certificate loan bill by the House of Representatives, Mr. Timmons said:

"The House of Representatives on Thursday last decided that the five million of us who enlisted in the armies of the U. S. five years ago years ago are mercenaries. It decide are mercenaries It decided that those of us who gave up our jobs to join the citizen's army can be paid for our services by little slips of paper, on which we may borrow money if we can find a bank or a pawnbroker who will lend it to us. It branded five million of us 'bum' sports and attempted to wipe out the meritage we thought we had of duty well performed—of a sacrifice made for our country. If the Senate confirms the action of the House and we accept it we will be in the same class of the boys who went to the shipyards—only the boys who went to the shipyards demanded good pay and got it and we sell out cheap."

The United States will continue to maintain one regiment of soldiers in China and as many of the armed force in the Hawaiian Islands and along the Panama Canal as President Harding, the commander in chief desires. Ever since the announcement that the House Appropriations Committee had failed to provide for the maintenance of American troops in foreign territory vigorous protests have been lodged against such action by military authroities. Many legal specialists asserted the President, as commander-in-chief, had the right to send American soldiers wherever he wished, although a few international experts say this question is one to be settled by Congress alone. However, it is understood that the legislative body has seen the wisdom of keeping American troops at the various places mentioned and the wishes of the President in this regard are to be respected.

Nearly $1,000,000,000 must be mobilized by bankers of the United States during the next six months to accommodate the needs of farmers in the harvest and distribution of the 1922 crop, it is estimated

Upon the facilities presented for them in the finacing of their own business, depend, say the farmers, the fall and winter prosperity of the entire nation. Unemployment will be reduced in the cities in direct measure, according to the agricultural leaders, as the financial resources are supplied to the rural sections in the spring and summer. Manufacturing plants will receive a greater volume of orders in proportion to the profit or loss of nearly 50,000,000 persons who are dependent for their prosperity upon the prosperity of 6,000,000 farm managers and owners.

The Bureau of Engineering, Navy Department, announces the development of a muffler for motor boat engines which on recent tests gave perfect muffling with unusualy light back pressure to the engine. The results of these tests have been so interesting that it is believed the new muffler may be valuable for automobiles as well as motor boats in increasing the mileage per gallon of gasoline.

This muffler, by the way, is a by product of research work done during the war in experimenting with the various principles of sound to develop devices by which the German submarines might be detected by listening for them with especially delicate instruments.

Practically the whole of the United States and Europe have been conqquered by "jazz," according to Miss Nobu Hara, Japanese grand opera singer. Upon her arrival in Tokio after a tour of the world, following a season with the Metropolitan Opera Company, in New York, the artist who is well known to American music lovers, declared she is firmly convinced of the present and future hold of "jazz" upon the people of Europe and America, according to reports received here today from the Japanese capital.

"Jazz music may now be heard all over the United States," says Miss Hara. In England I found that the people were not so enthusiastic about jazz as in America but its popularity is constantly growing, though at a slower pace. When we crossed the channel we heard much more jazz, for the French have thoroughly adopted it."

Teachers Conference

Accommodations have not been secured for all the teachers who are expected to attend the conference here Thursday and Friday of this week according to the committee in charge This committee, however, reports that many homes have been promised and that the work is progressing nicely. The committee would be glad to hear from any one who may have available accommodations for one or more of the visiting teachers. Such reports should be sent to Miss Marie Brauchler or R. C. Haydon in care of the Alexandria High School.

WILL NOMINATE FIVE TO RUN FOR CITY COUNCIL

Mass Meeting Tonight in Auditorium of Elks' Home

MEETING WIDE OPEN

Everybody is Invited — Nominees Will Run in Election to be Held June 13.

A mass meeting of citizens will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the auditorium of the Elks' Home for the purpose of considering the best plan to secure the nomination of five citizens to run for city council in the election to be held June 13 under the form of the council manager plan form of government.

A call for this meeting has been issued by J. E. W. Timberman temporary secretary chairman and is signed by C. A. Callahan, temporary secretary.

Announcement is made that the meeting is to be absolutely wide open, non-partisan and non political and everyone interested in the future welfare of the city is invited to attend, both men and women.

It is expected that there will be a large crowd present. Considerable interest has been shown over the proposed meeting. The plans of nomination have not been definitely determined upon and some new plan may be adopted at tonight's meeting. The original plan provided that fifteen persons be nominated from the floor and they in turn were to nominate five who would make the race for city council in the June election.

On March 9 a better city government league was formed following a meeting of the Kiwanis Club and the mass meeting tonight is the result of the formation of this league. The league, however, has absolutely no connection with any club or organization.

NEW HIGH RISE IN MISSISSIPPI

Heavy Rainfall In Mississippi and Ohio Valleys is Reported

Weather Bureau Officials Admit It is Now Impossible to Forecast Extent of Flood

Memphis, Tenn., March 27.—With heavy rains reported yesterday throughout the Missouri and Ohio River Valleys and additional rainfall in the Central Mississippi Valley expected, Weather Bureau officials said last night that it was impossible to forecast the probable rise in the lower Mississippi until the extent of the rainfall was determined.

The gauge at Memphis stood at approximately 41.5, with the river rising at the rate of about 0.8 feet a day. The crest of the present flood in the Mississippi reached Cairo, Ill., last night, when the gauge showed 53.6. Rainfall above Cairo is expected to bring another rise within a few days, according to Weather Bureau officials. The crest of the present high water is expected at Memphis Thursday night or Friday

Heavy seepage developed in the levee above Mound City, Ark., early today and a force of workmen with 15,000 sacks was rushel from Memphis. Last night it was said that there was no danger of a break. A large force of men also was at work on an old levee near Peters, Ark., where minor trouble has been reported.

Between Hickman, Ky., and Tiptonville, Tenn., on the east bank, where the levee is very low, the water is running over the embankment and spreading out over lowlands. No damage of importance has been reported, although many farmers have been forced to move. At Hickman the streets of the town are flooded with backwater.

Reports from Clarksdale and Greenville, Miss., headquarters of the two State levee boards, say that no trouble has developed anywhere along the State line. Engineres in charge at Greenville have ordered men and boats to various points where they can be in close touch with any situation which may develop.

The dove by many artists has been used as the personification of divine spirit. It appears in the pictures of Christ's life and baptism, and the inspiration probably came from St. John i, 32: "I saw the spirit descending from heaven like a dove."

The earliest mention of the dove is found in the story of the deluge when Noah sent the bird to search for dry land and it returned with the olive branch.

SPARE NO ONE JUDGE TELLS JURY IN PROBE

Investigation Into Divorce Situation Opened This Morning

TO PROBE O. D. B. C. FIRE

Six Criminal Cases Presented to Jury Prior to Going Into Divorce Investigation.

A grand jury with Mayor J. M. Duncan as foreman today is engaged in probing the divorce situation here. The records in the proceedings just completed before the special committee of seven of the Alexandria Bar Association together with the report of the committee adopted by the bar association is in the hands of the jury. Several witnesses are present ready to testify. Before the jury went into the probe however, they took up six criminal cases, some being for violations of the prohibition law and some for grand larceny.

Regarding the divorce situation Judge Moncure in a brief charge to the jury asked that body to make a complete and thorough investigation and not to spare anyone so the public generally may be satisfied.

The judge also requested the jury to probe the supposed incendiary fires which occurred recently at the Old Dominion Boat Club at its King street property.

Just after the court met Attorney H. Noel Garner stated to the court that on Saturday he had made certain statements to the effect that he had been informed that one member of the grand jury appeared before a committee of the state legislature in Richmond in the interest of the re-election of Judge Moncure Mr. Garner said that he had been misinformed before there was no such committee and while the member in question was in Richmond he said he learned that he took no part in the proceedings in behalf of the re-election of Judge Moncure.

Judge Moncure declared he thought the jury would be edified by the statement. The grand jury proceedings are behind closed doors.

The grand jury is composed of Mayor J. M. Duncan. foreman; Frank T. King, Kenneth W. Ogden, S. W. Pitts, William Desmond, W. C. Drury, George K. Brawner, Elliott Hoffman and B. Abramson.

The Grand Jury at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon returned true bills to the following indictments: Antonia De Blosio, charged with violating the provisions of the prohibition law; John W. Thompson, Robert Skelton and Graham White, all colored, robbery. The jury in the case of Ephraim Brown, colored of Fairfax County, charged with an alleged infraction of the prohibition law, returned not a true bill.

The jury then took a recess until 2 o'clock, at which hour a probe of the divorce situation was begun. The jury asked the court to furnish a stenographer, which was done.

The first witness called before the jury this afternoon was A. Cloyd Gill, of the Washington Times. Afterward a Mr. Wood, of Maryland, testified.

The jury will not, it is thought, complete its work today.

FOUR BOATMEN ARE KILLED BY FERRY BOILER

Radiator Thrown 1,000 Feet Injures Mourners at Funeral

DAMAGE IS $100,000

Port Huron, Mich., March 27.—Four men were killed and property damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by a boiler explosion on board the ferryboat Omar D. Conger yesterday afternoon.

The explosion shook the entire downtown district The boiler was thrown 250 feet into a dwelling.

The dead are:

Ransom A. Campbell chief engineer of the ferry; Tom Buckner and Kenneth Crandall, deck hands, and Clifford Althouse, fireman. No one else was aboard the boat at the time of the explosion.

The dwelling into which the boiler was thrown caught fire and was burned to the ground. The occupants of the house, William Smith and family, were attending a movie at the time.

A steam radiator was thrown 1,000 feet into the chapel of Albert A. Falk, where a funeral was in progress. Mourners were injured by splinters. Glass was broken in store fronts two blocks away.

The explosion was due to scarcity of water in the boiler, it is believed. The boat was tied at the dock in Black River.

HOUSE BILL MAY CHANGE NAVAL RATIO

Proposal to Limit Navy Personnel to 86,000 In All

BRITISH IS DOUBLE

Plan Would Bring U. S. Navy Down Practically to Size of the Japanese.

Washington, March 27.—Although the British and American navies are to be equal and the American Navy two fifths greater than the Japanese navy under the Arms Conference treaty, the United States, under the proposal pending in the House, would be unable to man a navy as large as the British and only a trifle larger than the Japanese.

The Naval Affairs Committee proposes to limit the American navy personnel to 86,000 officers and men. The British navy now totals 140,658, and it is proposed to reduce this force by March 31, 1923, to 117,758, consisting of 98,500 British navy and marines, 7,289 colonial navy personnel, and 11,969 aviation personnel.

The Japanese navy personnel is now 82,340, consisting of 9,088 officers nad 73,252. There are no marines in the Japanese navy. The Japanese propose to cut their officer personnel 500 and their enlisted personnel 5,000.

Even after the reduction the Japanese would be able to man every ship they are allowed to retain under the treaty and still have 35 per cent of their force available for shore establishments, aviation and training.

With only 86,000 officers and men, however, the United States will be compeled to tie up so many ships that the treaty ratio of 5 5 3 would be destroyed and the American Navy would be reduced nearly to the level permitted the Japanese.

JUDGE BRENT REVERSED

Richmond, Va., March 27.—The Supreme Court of Appeals reversed the judgment for $3,000 entered by the Circuit Court of Arlington County in the case of the administration of Julia Delia Struder, deceased, vs. the Washington Virginia Railway Co. Judge Jesse E. West handed down the unanimous opinion of the court, which held that there was no negligence on the part of the Railway Company, but that the contributing negligence of the deceased was the cause of the accident which resulted in her death.

This decision is of great importance to the public, in that it renders it well nigh impossible in the future for a pedestrian to claim damages for injuries received at a railroad crossing, even though the crossing be obstructed.

VIRGINIA NEWS PARAGRAPHED

Winchester—A committee of the Sarah Zane Fire Company is to leave here next week in charge of a little fire engine, presented to it in 1840 by Miss Sarah Zane, which has been accepted by the National Museum in Washington.

Paul E. Garber, representing the museum, was here a day or two ago and accepted the gift. The old engine, which is in excellent condition, is said to be one of the oldest pieces of fire apparatus now in existence.

Fredericksburg—Survey for the improvement of the Richmond-Washington Highway between Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania Courthouse, under direction of A. H. Bell, resident engineer, State Highway Department, with C. S. Charlton, chief of party. The present roadway will be followed, as far as practicable, with some curves eliminated and others lightened. New alignments and easier grades will be sought on Fall Hill, Massaponax Creek and Gayle's Run. The surfacing of the road will be 18 feet concrete pavement.

Norfolk—Buildings of the Colonial Cereal Company were destroyed by a fast-burning fire, accompanied by a series of sharp explosions, this afternoon. Within a half hour after discovery of the fire, the brick walls of the structures lay in ruined piles on the ground, but the flames were under control.

Charlottesville—The lifting and bundling of small forest trees for shipment this spring began yesterday at the State Forest Nursery, at the University of Virginia. The trees, which are very small, being intended primarily for forest planting, are being tied into bundles of from 25 to 100, depending on the size of the trees, and will be shipped within a few days.

Richmond—Cutting a pane of glass from a rear window, burglars forced an entrance to the residence of W. S. Tyler, 1607 Monteiro avenue, Barton Heights, Saturday night, while the family was away from home, and escaped with jewelry, clothing and other valuables worth several hundred dollars. Mr. Tyler says the latest robbery of his residence makes the fourth time burglars have entered his home in twelve months. He says the burglaries were immediately reported to police headquarters, but in none of the cases have detectives found the slightest clue to the identity of the robbers, or anything that would aid them in making an arrest. The third burglary of his residence, he said, was on Thanksgiving eve.

Liquor Raid By Police

One Man Held For Grand Jury and One Acquitted

Antonia de Blosia and Charles G. Smith were arrested yesterday afternoon across the canal by Chief Goods, Sergeant Campbell and Policemen Durrer and Magner and Court Bailiff Devers on suspicion of violating the prohibition law. The police captured a three-gallon jug partially filled with corn liquor, which, it was testified, was about 60 feet from an ark belonging to De Blosia. De Blosia was held for the action of the Grand Jury. He was represented by Attorney Chas. Henry Smith. The court acquitted Smith. Smith was represented by Attorney Frank Stuart.

Allies Offer New Scheme

Paris, March 27.—The allied conference on the Near East has reached a solution of the conflict of international claims in Asia Minor which depends only upon its acceptance by the Turkish and Greek governments to become effective. In its main outlines the proposed agreement is as follows:

Smyrna shall come once more under Turkish control. with the possibility of a special regime in which foreign interests shall have a voice

Regarding Asia Minor, the agreement says: "If the proposal for an armistice is successfully carried out. Turkish sovereignty shall be assured in Anatolia from the Mediterranean to he Black Sea, and from Transcaucasia and Persia to the Aegean Sea."

Constantinople will remain under the sovereignty of the sultan.

Troops will be withdrawn from the territory on the west side of the Straits. "whether this territory finally is awarded to Greece or remains under Turkish rule."

Allied military inspectors will control the program for "demilitarizing" this territory.

The armenian problem will be handed over to the league of nations for solution.

The Ottoman empire's debt will be subject to the control of the great powers.

Both parties to the dispute are invited to send their representatives to a conference, to be held within three weeks at a city thus far not designated—possibly Constantinople.

BONUS BACKERS CLAIM SENATE WILL PASS BILL

Believe That Enactment is Assured Before Adjournment of Session

OPPOSITION SMALL

Less Than One-Third Against Passage is Report—Fight to be Waged on Certificate Provision.

Washington, March 27.—Passage of a soldier bonus measure by the Senate before the adjournment of this sesion appears to be assured, supporters of the bill claim.

A careful canvass of the situation discloses that there are not more than 25 or 30 Senators likely to vote against such legislation.

This minority of less than one-third may be expected to take full advantage of the greater latitude of opposition and obstruction which obtains in the Senate, compared with the House, but a two-thirds majority can work its will even in the Senate.

It is too early to say whether the main features of the House bill will be accepted by the other body. That some of the subsidiary provisions will be changed is a foregone conclusion, and a determined fight will be made to eliminate the entire certificate loans provision, to restore the cash bonus and to provide for some method of raising the necessary funds within the near future.

The House bill is now in the hands of the Senate Finance Committee, and Chairman McCumber plans to begin its consideration as soon as the tariff bill is reported to the Senate. The committee expects to finish redrafting the tariff bill this week so that the way will be cleared to take up the bonus bill in the committee by next week.

Senator McCumber is not prepared to state his views of the House bill comprehensively, but he cites the plan of the land reclamation option as one of the provisions which the committee may deem it necessary to revise radically. He has been impressed by Administration opinion that this feature is visionary. According to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, the land reclamation option would afford no immediate benefit to ex-service men selecting it, and might cost the Government in the end about $18,000,000,000.

That Mr. McCumber may throw the weight of his influence against the certificate loan plan of the House bill is deemed not improbable in view of his attitude from the start that an ample cash bonus should be provided immediately. He has looked with favor upon a provision to finance the bonus from the payments of interest by the allies on their debts to the United States.

This suggestion is bound to be revived in the committee as a result of the British budget provision for the payment next fall of interest on the American $4,000,000,000 loan to England. On account, however, of the general uncertainty of the volume of receipts from foreign loan interest there will be strong opposition to this method of financing the bonus.

Senator Smoot, a member of the Finance Committee, is going to make a fight for the financing of a cash bonus by a sales tax. The sales tax is stubbornly opposed by labor and the farmers, and Mr. Smoot is not likely to make any more progress with his proposal in this case than he did in his effort to include it in the revenue bill last year.

A Revolutionary Lecture

The lecture at Christ Church on Tuesday, March 28th, at 8 p. m., will be on "The Epistle to the Galatians"—the most influential letter in history It was one of the main causes of the Protestant Reformation in the sixteenth century and it has been an important factor in more than half a dozen other revolutions in church history.

Dr. Rollins will explain the conditions which led Paul to write this letter and the critical issues at stake He will also trace the influence of Galatians in history and will show that this short letter, when faithfully read, has always produced far-reaching reforms. What effects would follow today if Christians in Alexandria and throughout our country should all begin to read and heed this letter.

Every one is cordially invited to be present and, in preparation to read through the Epistle to the Galatians at least once.

FOUR-POWER TREATY

As might have been expected, the Four-Power Pact has passed the Senate. For our own part, we believe that the twelve Democrats who voted with the majority, acted wisely and well. On general principles any cause advocated by Senators Johnson and La Follette, would be open to suspicion; and the more strenuous their fight, the greater the suspicion. We might say, again, that any measure opposed by the Hearst organs would, according to the laws of probability, have that fact as a prima facie argument in its favor. In this instance, these two senators and the Hearst papers were in thorough and happy accord.

We believe this treaty to rise far beyond the ordinary levels of partisanship and to rest upon those lofty heights of patriotism where what is good for mankind in general impresses itself as best for one's own country. As we have stated before in these columns, the so-called Disarmament Conference was the first of its kind in history. A new leaf in international negotiation was turned, and the Conference was in response to a world-wide demand of the peoples. Heretofore, the kings and potentates, the prime ministers, the foreign ministers, or the secretaries of state, have conducted the international affairs under discussion, and their mouthpieces have been their ambassadors or ministers plenipotentiary. The original stream as it came from its source, colorless and limpid with the one thought of the sovereignty, became tinged and suffused with the variegated hues of temperament or prejudice, until it merged into a parti-colored stream of many personalities and objectives. But even at best, it was the expression of the will of the sovereignty, and seldom, or never, of the people. Here, for the first time, we had the spectacle of a mighty undercurrent of popular feeling sweeping the whole world, overcoming in its resistless urge, the parliamentary objections and shallower statecraft of the rulers, and tossing them aside like so much flotsam and jetsam.

To Senator Borah belongs the credit of the final summons of the nations to the Conference at Washington. Like a mad bull he raged up and down the Senate day after day, smashing into heterogenous fragments the prettily-arranged china of the Republican administrative program, until the President and his advisers were literally bedinned into taking notice of the situation. Senator Borah, in his ferocious and relentless attacks in the Senate, voiced the sentiments of the vast majority of the people of the United States. The people of this country, like the other peoples on this planet, had had enough of War. They bore the burdens; they stood the brunt; they shed the blood; they furnished the heart-broken victims at home; they pinched and scrimped and slaved and denied themselves; and they had concluded that war was utterly cruel and unnecessary among beings who claimed a common fatherhood in the Almighty God!

President Harding issued the call, and it was obeyed implicitly and eagerly—because the rulers of the other nations dared not disobey its invitation—under penalty of the wrath of their own aroused electorates.

We have said that Senator Borah deserves the credit of so bestirring the Administration at Washington that they were compelled to give heed to the mandate of the popular will. We know Senator Borah to be a sincere man; we believe him to be an able one. But we must admit that his role is that of an objector; of a critic; of a prosecuting attorney, if you please, which is perhaps due as much to training as to temperament. As to his voting against the measure which the Conference he had called into being, finally brought forth—we feel that he would have opposed any measure that he had not written and conceived himself. He has his uses in the United States Senate; but not in constructive legislation or treaty-making.

As to the twelve Democrats who voted for the Treaty, we feel like extending them congratulations. The instrument is not now a Republican measure. That Party can not arrogate to itself the credit for its ratification. Two of the Democratic senators who voted for the adoption, we regard as among the brainiest and best-equipped, intellectually, in the senatorial body; Senators Underwood and Williams.. Furthermore, we conceive their Democracy to be unquestioned and unassailable. As to the other Democratic senators, who felt called upon to vote adversely to ratification, we have for them, likewise, the highest respect; some of them we feel honored in claiming as friends in a personal sense; but we conjecture that they, or most of them, perhaps, were swayed by a feeling of loyalty to their chieftain of a former day.

As to the treaty itself, we are convinced that it is the best that could have been obtained under the circumstances. It is not perfect; nothing of human convention is! But without it we believe, just as firmly, that the world would have been at war in another decade—or sooner. With it, we believe the world may escape war for at least ten years; and perhaps, now that the peoples have inaugurated a new diplomacy—by international conference—there may never be another world-war!

Trade of The U. S. With Ireland

Whatever may be the outcome of the present discussion regarding the tariff rates of the new Ireland, its trade with the United States seems likely to move on with comparatively little change. The class of material which Ireland has been purchasing from they were, all of them her domestic products chiefly the outturn of her factories.

In fact, adds the bank's statement, the trade between the United States and Ireland in 1920 was greater in value than in any earlier year, aggregating in round terms $80,00,000 against $51,,000,000 in 1919, and $30,-000,000 in the year preceding the war. While Ireland has quite naturally drawn a large part of its imports from the governing country, England, and sent the bulk of its exports thereto, our own trade figures show a total of trade with Ireland in the past decade of $425,000,000, about equally divided between imports and exports, and in the past quarter of a century practically a billion dollars.

The United States, adds the Trade, Record, is one of the few countries which has maintained a septrate record of its trade with Ireland. Until a comparatively recent date the exports to Ireland were far greater than the imports from equaled and often exceeded the exports thereto. In 1920 when the total trade with Ireland was the biggest ever recorded, the imports from Ireland in 1920 included $20,-000,000 worth of fabrics chiefly of flax, 2½ million dollars worth of linen handkerchiefs, $4,000,000 worth of cotton manufactures, a half million dollars worth of flax yarns, and about a half million dollars worth of fish. Our exports to Ireland in that year included $17,000,000 worth of wheat and flour, $3,000,000 worth of other grains, 3½ million dollars worth of petroleum in the various forms, and $3,000,000 worth of tobacco.

A large sthare of the trade of Ireland has been, quite naturally, with England. The Statement's Year-Book of 1921 reports the total imports of Ireland in 1919 at $159,000,000, of which it says £132,000,000 was from Great Britian, and the total exports of that year at £176,000,000, of which about £170,000,000 went to Great Britian.

the United States, says the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York, is a character which her people must continue to have, and there is no other place in the world where they can get it with such convenience to themselves. Wheat and flour, oats and oatmeal, marley and rye, petroleum in all its forms, tobacco, and sugar made up the bulk of the $42,000,000 worth of merchandise which the United States exported to Ireland in 1920, and she paid for it too with the outturn of her mills have a world wide reputation and of a class which we shall continue to want. Our imports from Ireland in 1920 were $38,000,000 in value or nearly as much as our exports thereto, and

Wyatt French Graham

The Gazette prints below an editorial from the Fauquier Democrat of Saturday, 6th instant. We extend our sincere sympathy to the friends and relatives of the deceased, as also to Mr. Frank, the editor.

EDITOR "GAZETTE."

"It is with a said and heavy heart the editor of the Democrat pays tribut to his late business associate, Wyatt French Graham, who died after only a few hours illness at the Emergency Hospital in Washington last Monday morning.

"French," as he was always known, was the soul of honor, faithful and loyal, true to every pledge and trust. His death at his young age comes as a mose severe shock to the editor of the Democrat and to his great number of friends.

"We were proud of him, proud of his untiring energy, proud of his loyalty and faithfulness. He was zealous in the promotion of whatever appealed to his conscience as just. He was sympathetic; his sympathies went out to those who needed sympathy. He believed in the humble citizen. He had no sympathy for the aristocrat. He was a democrat himself in everything, even in politics.

We grieve that he has passed from us, but he has left a record of service that fills us with pride. It is utterly impossible for the editor of the Democrat to express his real and true feelings, but he does say that men like Wyatt French Graham never die. Their words and work live after they have passed away and are emulated by those who follow."

BOOK PRICES TO INCREASE

Virginia School Text Books to be Increased 64 Percent

There Will be no Change in the List For Next Year.—Publishers Contract Expires

Richmond, Va., March 27.—While the State Board of Education has signed a contract extending for one year the present list of books used in the public schools of the State, the prices to be paid for these books for the forthcoming session will be approximately 64 per cent higher than the prices now prevailing. This is due to the fact that the publishers supplying the books under contract to Virginia have been doing so at the prices that prevailed in 1915 when the contract was made. Under the terms of the contract the same could be extended for a period of three years, and the State availed itself of this opportunity, due to which action the school books have been sold in Virginia at a heavy loss to the publishers during the past three years.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Harris Hart said that there would be no change in the list of books, except that as many as possible would be cut from the list so as to bring down the cost to pupils, Going into detail, Superintendent Hart said:

"The bids for the one year extension were very carefully analyzed and by comparison with bids in other States, and also by reviewing an estimate of prices of books of similar grade, it was ascertained that the bids presented to the State Board of Education were as favorable as could be obtained at this time, or as now prevail in any other State.

"If a pupil starts with the first grade and goes through the seven elementary grades, purchasing the basal books necessary to carry him through the course, the total cost for the seven-year period under the old price would be $9.34, whereas, under the new prices the total cost would be $15.23. The new wholesale price exceeds the old retail price by about 36 per cent, whereas the new retail price is in excess of that formerly paid by about 64 per cent.

FEAR EPIDEMIC MAY DEVASTATE EAST EUROPE

Danger From Russian Famine, Say League of Nation's Experts

Washington, March, 27.—The danger to Eastern Europe from epidemics attendent upon the prevalence of famine in Russia "is rapidly becoming serious." according to a report compiled by the League of Nations health committee. Basing its conclusion upon information gathered from many reliable sources, the committee declared the entire frontier zone between Soviet Russia and the Ukraine, on one hand, and Central Europe on the other, is less prepared to withstand the probable shocks of epidemics than it has been for several years.

The situation is gradually becoming more grave, the committee found, and predicted its culmination when the famine reaches its crisis, probably in April.

The threat of disease to Eastern Europe was said to be due, first, to the tremendous waves of migration caused by the flight of peasants from the famine-stricken areas toward districts where food production is possible, and second, to mass repatriation of hundreds of thousands of Poles and others who were dislodged from their homes during the great retreat of 1915. While exact figures were not available, it was estimated that just inside the Russian frontier no less than 120,000 caravans are concentrated, some of them having been on the march for four or five months. Through one quarantine station, Baranowicz, 301,287 refugees passed between March and December, 1921.

The greatly increased reparation was said to have resulted in a break in the Polish sanitary cordon, with the result that typhus has spread farther west than ever before, even reaching Lithuania and East Prussia.

The famine, moreover, is known to have spread into the most fertile districts of the Ukraine, to which tens of thousands of refugees from the northern provinces had fled in the hope of finding food and shelter.

The Polish Government, in an effort to meet these difficulties, has named a former Prime Minister as special repatriation commissioner, while the city of Warsaw has appointed an extraordinary epidemic commissioner. The epidemics commission of the League of Nations is also cooperating to strengthen the sanitary cordon, and a conference is now in session, under call of the Polish Government and under the auspices of the League, in the effort to co-ordinate the preventive measures of all the states contingent on Russia.

DOBIE CONSENTS

To Conduct Summer School Coach Class at the University of Virginia

Dean Charles G. Maphis of the Summer Quarter, has engaged Gilmour Dobie to take charge of the training course for coaches which will be conducted at the University, beginning June 26 and ending July 27. His assistant will be W. L. Lush. The Virginia coaching school will be one of the first of its kind in the country, and the authorities are fortunate in securing the services of two such widely known men.

Mr. Dobie has a national reputaion as a football coach. For the past four years he has turned out winning elevens, both at the Naval Academy and Cornell, and before thta time he spent eight years as head coach at the University of Washington. While at the latter institution his teams established a record of no defeats for eight consecutive years.

Billy Lush has been coach of baseball and basketball at the Naval Academy for the past six years. Previous to that period he served a like term at Yale and played several years os professional baseball.

Dobie and Lush were together at Annapolis for two years. While there they worked in perfect co-operation, and both gained a knowledge of the other's plans for developing and training athletes. They form an ideal combination and come here with the expectation of perfecting a system which will be of great value in the development of Old Dominion athletes.

Special courses in coaching football, basketball, baseball, track and swimming will be offered, with a study of the rules of each branch, training regulations, fundamentals and form of individual play, team work and methods of instruction. Lambeth Field, Fayerweather Gymnasium and the Redland Swimming Club Pool, the largest open-air concrete swimming pool in the South, will be used by this department of the Summer Quarter.—College Topics, U. of V.

LABOR MEETING

Torpedo Station Machinists to Hold Open Meeting Wednesday Evening in Young People's Buildin.

The machinists and other employees of the torpedo station have made arrangements for a big labor meeting to be held Wednesday evening, March 29, at 8 o'clock, in the Young People's Building on South Washington street. They have secured three very notable speakers to address the meeting, to which the general public of the city is cordially invited. The principal speakers will be Mrs. Ellen Magow, of Chicago, Ill., who has had a long experience on the lecture platform in behalf of the various womn's organizations (among which is the National Women's Party and the Women's Trade Union League. Mrs. Megow is a very pleasing speaker of great ability, and one that has a large range of material from which to draw. The subject of her remarks will be "His Majesty, the American citizen." In this address she will be able to discuss the many vital and interesting problems that effect the welfare of the vast number of people that go to make up the producing masses of America.

The second speaker on the program will be Mr. Western Starr, a noted economist, lecturer and journalist. Mr. Starr has made a special study of the monopoly of natural resources of America, and it is said that there are few speakers better qualified to discuss this vital question. He has been connected with the farmer labor party from its inception, and is one of the greatest exponents of independent political action by the working class. Mr. Starr has just recently returned from the large nonpartisan political conference held in the city of Chicago, which has made arrangements for an amalgamation of the various political parties representing the workers of the country. This particular phase of Mr. Starr's remarks should prove of great interest. The subject of Mr. Starr's address will be "The Power of Monopolies." To anyone interested in the question of monopolies and their menace to the people, this lecture will prove an intellectual treat.

The third speaker of the evening will be a Grand Lodge officer of the machinists' union. Mr. H. L. Brunson of St. Louis. The remarks of Mr. Brunson will deal with the many vital problems of that organization, and especially the railroad situation. For a number of years Mr. Brunson acted in the capacity of business agent for the Machinists' Union for the railroad lines out of St. Louis and his remarks will have a special application to the railroad men of the city. The labor question and its solution is a vital problem, and it is earnestly desired that a large number of the citizens of Alexandria will attend this meeting and secure the labor viewpoint. It is evident that the country is on the eve of a great coal strike, and there is no more opportune time than the present to understand the various questions agitating the mind of the working people of the country. There will be absolutely no admission fee charged or collection made, as the machinists have arranged this meeting solely for the purpose of enlightening public opinion, and a desire to be of service to the people of the city.

Richmond—President Edwin A. Alderman, of the University of Virginia, has invited W. B. Cridlin, secretary of the Virginia Historical Pageant Association ,to visit the university on Wednesday of this week for the purpose of discussing the part that institution is to ttake in tht "Pageant of Virginia," to be staged in Richmond May 22 to 28.

S. S. S. Fills Out Hollow Cheeks, Thin Limbs!

Men and women,—whether you will ever build yourself up to your normal, just-right weight depends on the number of blood-cells in your blood. That's all there is to it. It's a scientific fact. If your blood-cell factory isn't working right, you will be run-down, thin, your blood will be in disorder, and perhaps your face will be broken out with pimples, blackheads and eruptions. S. S. S. keeps your blood-cell factory working full time. It helps build new blood-cells. That's why S. S. S. builds up thin, run-down people, it puts firm flesh on your bones, it rounds out your face, arms neck, limbs, the whole body. It puts the "pink" in your cheeks. It takes the hollowness from the eyes, and it fools Father Time by smoothing out wrinkles in men and women by "plumping" them up. S. S. S. is a remarkable blood-purifier. While you are getting plump, your skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, acne, rheumatism, rash, tetter, blotches are being removed. The medicinal ingredients of S. S. S. are guaranteed purely vegetable. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

MRS. ELVA CAULKINS

"I have gained thirty pounds since taking Tanlac and never felt better in my life than I do now. Mother says she hasn't seen me looking so well since I was a girl," said Mrs. Elva Caulkins, 303 Blandina St., Utica, N. Y.

"For eighteen long years I suffered from stomach trouble and sluggish liver, and during all that time I hardly knew what a well day was. As I almost starved myself trying to avoid indigestion, I fell off until I was hardly more than a shadow, and was so weak I was barely able to drag myself around the house. As a result of my long suffering I became almost a nervous wreck.

"This was the condition I was in when I started taking Tanlac, but today I am strong and well, feeling and looking like a different person from what I did a short time ago. It is no wonder to me that so many people praise Tanlac to the skies."

If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on the bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

"TOO TRUE TO MAKE A JOKE OF"

Democracy today despises a man because he is called a federalist; no epithet is bad enough to bestow upon him; he is a tory, viper, etc.—Tomorrow, this Federalist, viper, tory, etc. is said to have turned democrat; democracy receives him with open arms—puts its ring on his finger—kills the fatted calf etc. as a reward, soon helps him to a fat office. Genuine democrats, who never changed, who have borne the heat and burden of the day, must give place to this eleventh hour man for so democracy wills it. O! consistent democracy! !

Mass., Penn. and N. J. Give $100,000 to Fund

New York, March 28.—Reports indicates that the states of New York, Pennslyvania, Kentucky, Massachusetts, and New Jersey have raised the largest amounts for the endowment of the Woodrow Wilson Awards for public service, it was announced by Hamilton Holt, executive director of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation. Mr. Holt said that these five states alone have raised more than one-third of the present total of the fund.

The results of the campaign in behalf of the fund of $1,000,000 or more as reported up tc the present time in these states were announced as follows: New York, $110,000; Pennsylvania, $40,000; Kentucky, $31,000; Massachusetts, $30,000; and New Jersey, $30,000.

Enthusiastic reports came today from many of the state chairmen. J. Warren Davis, of Trenton, N. J., telegraphed, "Upwards of $30,000 actually in hand. Less than $20,000 of quota remains to be collected. Beginning now will put forth strenous effort tor completion of fund." Mrs. Clarence Renshaw, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the women's committee, stated that the total for Pennslyvania is based on the partial reports.

Oregon, it was reported, has now reached 60 per cent. of its quota, and the work is being continued witn enthusiasm. Tennessee is leading all southern states, having passed North Carolina this afternoon. The latter state has raised 71 per cent. of its allotment, while the work in Tennesse is 75 per cent. finished.

Among the contributors today was Joseph A. Knedlhans, a New York Czecnoslovak who offered his service to make an appeal for the Foundation among persons of his nationality. With his contribution he wrote:

"I am sure that the Czechoslovak people would collect and contribute to the fund. We Czechoslovaks remember well what ex-President Wilson has done for oppressed small nations in Europe and especially for our newly born Republic. I can assure you that Mr. Wilson as well as President Masaryk will be celebrated as the liberators of the Czechoslovak nation forever in history."

The largest contribution for the day came from Thomas L. Chadbourne, the New York lawyer, who sent his check for $1,000. Mr. Chadbourne, was formerly counsel of the War Trade Board at Washington. Another of the prominent contributors was Alexander Konta, who sent $100. Mr. Konta wrote:

"I conceive that when the perspective of the world of thinking men and women becomes enlarged—when we all emerge from the mists which seemingly, at present, envelop the great figures of the world-war period and their acts—one giant figure will stand out clearly and inspiringly as the man who, under stress without parellel, ever labored unfalteringly and wish supreme vision in the permanent interest of his fellow men. The progress of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation should prove a measure of that enlargeing perspective and a promise of that universal recognition of Woodrow Wilson's unforgettable service to mankind."

Among the other contributors today was Mrs. George H. Childs, president of the Women's Democratic Club of New York, who also sent a large number of other contributions. Subscriptions of thse who decide to become founders of the awards are being received at 17 East 42nd street, room 504; and 150 Nassau street, fifth floor.

Community Life Campaign

The Community Life Campaign, covering the whole month of May, plans to reach every community in the State, particularly the rural and small town communities, in the interest of education, social life, community organization, health and sanitation.

There has always been a general feeling that the people in the country enjoy better health than do city people. It is, of course, true that in themselves the rural conditions are more favorable to health than are the urban conditions. However, the city has made more careful provicions for the health of its people than has the country. More thought has been given to sanitation in the city than in the country.

Rural eye defects, 23 per cent; city eye defects, 6.5 per cent. Rural ear defects, 3.4 per cent; city ear defects, 1.5 per cent. Rural enlarged tonsils, 90 per cent; city enlarged tonsils, 15 per cent. Rural dental cases, 62 per cent; city dental cases, 30 per cent. Rural Malnutrition, 15 per cent; city Malnutrition, 6.25 per cent.

The surveys made in other states indicate that these conditions are general throughout the United States.

Investigations seem to indicate that the rural sickness rate probably exceeds that of the city. There is a greater prevalence of Typhoid Fever Hookworm, Malaria, and intestinal parasites in the country than in the city. Contagious and preventable diseases are common in the country than in the city. It seems certain that under proper conditions the health, physical vigor, and sanitary conditions in the country can be made much more favorable than they now are.

There is probably no subject that is more actively engaging the attention of the civilized world at this time than the question of sickness.

The Community Life Campaign for the month of May will bring to every community as to what can be done to improve the health and sanitary conditions in Virginia. For information, address Dr. John P. McConnell East Radford, Va.

Lived Three Years With Scissors in Body

For three years Mrs. Eva M. Shanahan, of Reading, Mass., lived with a pair of surgeon's scissors, six and a half inches long. in her body, according to court testimony in the suit of Dr. Clarence Crane against her husband. Dr. Crane asked $1,000 for removing the scissors. This was exorbitant, claimed Shanahan, who refused to pay it. Dr. Crane has sued him.

RED CROSS

Scores of vocational and agricultural schools which were in operation before the war began had likewise been stripped of everything needed for their operation. The Welfare Commission undertook the opening of these schools and the American Red Cross and American Relief Association both came to its assistance with hundreds of sewing machines and great quanities of leather, yarn, cloth and other fabrics. With those machines and supplies, 78 schools under the Ministry of Commerce, 70 under the National Women's Association for maintaining girl's industrial schools, known as the Zensko Drustvo, 11 schools under the Ministry of Education, 8 under the Ministry of Social Politics, and 23 other schools not under the above organizations have been able to resume operation.

In addition to assisting in the rebuilding of wrecked school-houses, the Junior American Red Cross will cooperate with the Jugo-Slav Red Cross Society in the organization of a Junior Red Cross in that country. There are approximately 8,000 children in northern Jugo-Slavia, many Serbians, who were seperated from parents and relatives during the war. One of the tasks of the Jugo-Slav Junior Red Cross in which the Junior American Red Cross will assist will be that of finding homes for these children in their native districts.

WARNING ISSUED TO MISSISSIPPI FLOOD DWELLERS

Those Living On Unprotected Areas Warned to Seek Safety

Memphis, Tenn.,—Persons living outside the levees or on unprotected river lands south of Cairo, Ill., on the Mississippi, were warned by the United States Weather Bureau here to seek safety immediately, as a stage exceeding 42 feet could be expected here early next week.

The gauge here last night registered almost 39 feet, with the water rising rapidly.

The new warning was caused by the rapid rise of the river at Cairo and points south, with an unexpected volume of water coming out of both the Ohio and Missouri rivers.

Rivermen predict 43 feet at least on the gauge here, with a corresponding hign stage at Helena, Ark., and points south.

Engineers of the Mississippi State Levee Commission, cooperating with United States Goverment engineers, today took active steps to protect the embankments in that State.

The river shore line was divided into districts and beginning tomorrew morning a mounted patrol will be stationed each 15 miles. Shovels and sacks for level work were distributed to various points by the engineer's office at Greenville today and all points where the levees are not fully up to standard will be reinforced and carefully watched.

At Cairo the river is still rising, although the crest of the flood had been expected there today.

European Divorce and Marriage of Hollis Makes Him "Love Exile."

Henry F. Hollis, wife and daughter.

Former Senator Henry French Hollis, of New Hampshire, by his marriage in Rome to Miss Anne White Hobbs, of Concord, has become a "love exile," declare his friends. The divorce granted the former Senator by a French court cannot be legally recognized in America, it is declared. Should he return here, say lawyers, he would be bound to his first wife, from whom he failed twice to obtain a divorce. Mrs. Hollis, shown here with her little daughter, was granted a decree of separate maintenance from her husband. The new Mrs. Hollis is a childhood sweetheart of the erstwhile statesman, who has practised law in Paris since his retirement from the United States Senate.

Physical Standard For Children

Washington, Jan.—The U. S. health service has for a long time been occupied in various parts of the country in an investigation of physical standards for children.

Before relief can be fairly applied to children it is necessary to know whether or not a particular child needs it. Of course, many children show their need plainly, but others whose need is even greater may not show it to casual inspection until it is too late wholly to prevent the consequences.

The common test of a child's health development, and about the only test that can readily be applied to children in mass, is to ascertain by some standard table of age-weights prepared for the purpose, whether or not they weigh as much as they should at their age. If the child is 10 per cent or more under standard it is considered to be under nourished, and is treated accordingly.

This, however, may or may not be the case, for the standard tables are largely approximations. Nevertheless they serve a useful purpose, pending the establishment of more accurate and scientific standards, by calling attention to individual children and causing a more careful examination to determine whether the sub-standard weight is due to a remediable cause.

Some of the age-weight standards used in the United States are merely averages of all classes of children, including with the well those who have hampering physical defects and those who are actually undernourished. They probably never did apply to all parts of the United States, and quite possibly they no longer apply even to the particular part for which they were originally devised.

Immigration may have worked great alteration in the population; the region may have changed from agricultural to industrial; or other changes may have occurred.

The population of the United States is very varied. It comprises lanky New England fishermen, short, strong Italians, heavy, broad-shouldered Germans, small, lithe Cockneys, and men of many other racial strains (not to mention a few ancestral Americans) —and blends of them all. Moreover, it lives under many different climatic conditions, wet or dry, cold or hot: and it lives on diets that in one section depend largely on meat, in another on seafood, in a third on corn meal and pork. All these conditions are more or less local and all tend to produce children whose physique conforms to a local and not to a general standard.

In view of this the public health service is making studies of the physical development of normal children in different States, and is accumulating data that may serve as a basis for a possible (though unlikely) general standard, or for a number of standards which may apply to more or less homogeneous parts of the country and may indicate, far more accurately than any existing standard, the physique of the normal child by which the condition and nutritive needs of the particular child may be judged.

These studies comprise the making of physical measurements of all children and of collating them according to race, sex, age, habitat (city or country), and ancestry (native born of American-born parents, native born of foreign-born parents, or foreign-born of foreign-born parents). The data obtained should help to determine teh influence of the different racial types and of immigration as a whole on the national physique.

In this work the public health service has obtained the co-operation in several of the largest cities of the educational and health authorities, and in many rural counties of the State directors of child hygiene. The work and association will be extended in other States in the near future.

One State where such an investigation is being made by the public health service in co-operation with the State Board of Health is Florida, where the population is largely homogeneous—lives under similar climatic and food-supply conditions, and is largely native born. A State-wide investigation now in progress concerning children's problems, particularly the effects of physical defects and septic mouth conditions on nutrition and development, is being supplemented by careful physical examinations and measurements in two counties of all school children; and from this it is hoped that a standard for the State and the region may be framed.

Norfolk—When railway clerks and affiliated employees from the cities situated upon Hampton Roads, Tidewater Virginia and Eastern North Carolina met here Sunday, national officers of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, freight handlers, express and station employes, under the auspices of the lodges of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News, will talk upon problems affecting the clerical employes of American railroads. There are eight lodges and 2,000 members in this vicinity.

The dove has always played a large part in legend, folk lore and religious symbolism. Because of its peculiarly mournful notes it was used in pagan funerals.

THERE HAS BEEN NO CHANGE IN THE ANATOMY OF THE HUMAN RACE SAYS THE TONALL CHEMIST

Your Stomach, Kidneys, Heart and Liver performs the same duties today that they ever did when in a healthy condition. When they do not work as a unit, there is a cause and that cause you are often to blame for yourself by taking into the system drugs of which you know nothing about, hoping to allay the miseries that have caused you to become a hopeless medicine fiend and life is a burden to you due to taking a medicine with a fancy name.

Why do not all manufacturers of Proprietary Medicines publish their formula and take into their confidence the ignorant as well as the intelligent masses who have been deceived for the last century by taking medicines which have caused untold suffering? Think a moment, and you can recall several whom you know that life has no charms for. Their whole system is salivated by taking drugs which ruined their digestive organs and caused them to be a physical wreck.

Tonall, the Universal Tonic and System Builder, is the only proprietary medicine on the market of its kind, which publishes the formula and gives you full history of every root, herb and bark contained therein, fourteen in number, and what their medicinal qualities are according to the standard Pharmacopoeia of the United States. These are plain facts and connot be disputed.

When you take Tonall you know just what you are taking. There are no habit-forming drugs or opiates used in Tonall to cause momentary stimulation and when the effects die off you are worse off than before. Tonall builds up the system by purifying and enriching the blood, strengthening the nerves, adding tone and vitality and causing you to eat and sleep, because you are taking nature's own production intended to relieve the ailments with which mankind suffers.

Tonall is sold at Edgar's Warfield's Jr., Drug Store, Alexandria, Va.

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

Mary Jane and The Seven Little Kittens

Mary Jane said: "They were the cutest little kittens you ever saw."

ONE day, Mary Jane was out in the barn, and all of a sudden she saw Maria Mitsubshi, their gray cat, moving into her summer home up in the hay mow, with seven little Mitsubshis after her.

They were the cutest little kittens you ever saw. Mary Jane said how perfectly lovely they were, and how was their father? And Maria said that one of the neighbors had broken a bottle of catsup over Mr. Tom's head for singing after 12 o'clock at night, and he was in the hospital yet, but expected to be out soon. Mary Jane said she hoped that he'd reform and settle down, now that he had a family to look after.

But Maria said she didn't want to build up too much hope on this. Then Mary Jane ran up to the house and brought back a big saucer of milk for Maria and the babies, and a slice of bread spread with Mary Jane Syrup for herself.

And they sat there on the floor and ate their lunch. And Maria told Mary Jane that if Tommy Tippetoe, the mouse, didn't behave himself and stop coming around, making trouble in her family she'd have to tell his mother on him.

Then Mary Jane went home, and told her mother all about Maria's family. And her mother said "We'll keep the two gray ones. The others will have to get an education, and earn their own canned salmon." Mary Jane thought this was all that could be expected.
